LOCAL COMPANY CELEBRATES GRAND OPENING BUSINESS PROVIDES COMMUNITY WITH FULL-SERVICE SIGNAGE AND GRAPHICS

MISSOULA, Mont. (March 10, 2010)— Local business owners Rick Bice and Jamie Baughman held a grand opening ceremony on March 4 for their Signs Now center, located at 225 North Higgins Ave. The grand opening attracted over 125 people, including business clientele, chamber executives, Signs Now corporate team members and local officials, including Missoula Mayor, John Engan.

The grand opening included a ribbon cutting ceremony and product demonstration on a client's tradeshow display, which provided an inside look at the services available to the community through Signs Now. In addition, several prizes were given away, including a flat screen HDTV.

Bice and Baughman took ownership of the business, formerly Turner Sign Arts, in November of last year. Bice also owns and operates Allegra Print & Imaging of Missoula on 111 West Broadway.

“We have continued to offer the high-quality customer service clients had come to expect, but I believe the benefits of our expanded service base have had a very positive effect on the business as a whole,” said Bice.

The Signs Now service base includes multiple solutions for outdoor and indoor signage, banners, window and vehicle graphics, exhibit and trade show graphics, ADA signage, dimensional letters, directional systems and other visual communications tools.

In addition to the traditional services, Signs Now also offers large format digital services to their customers—a heavily-expanding technology in the industry. Large format digital printing provides a solution for clients needing to use photographs or complex artwork for their interior and exterior signage.
