ELEMENTS OF EFFECTIVE SIGN DESIGN

The professional designers and fabricators at Signs Now take several factors into consideration when helping you create the perfect signage, graphics and displays.

Distance & Visibility

Signage should always be sized according to the viewing distance. Typically for every 10 feet of viewing distance, an inch of letter height is required.

| Maximum Readable Distance | Distance For Best Impact | Letter Height (inches) |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|------------------------|
| 100'                      | 30'                      | 3"                     |
| 150'                      | 40'                      | 4"                     |
| 200'                      | 60'                      | 6"                     |
| 350'                      | 80'                      | 8"                     |
| 400'                      | 90'                      | 9"                     |
| 525'                      | 120'                     | 12"                    |
| 750'                      | 180'                     | 18"                    |
| 1,000'                    | 240'                     | 24"                    |

Readability

To quickly convey your intended message, emphasize key words and phrases with large letters, bold type styles and additional colors. Use layout and spacing to group ideas together logically, and utilize graphic elements to enhance the speed and thoroughness of communication.

Noticeability

To help your sign get noticed, use design elements that stand out. Color contrast, motion and a unique design are common techniques used to get attention.

Legibility

Type style is crucial. Fonts should be readable while also conveying the proper feel for the type of message you're sending, whether it's elegant and formal or casual and informative.

Color & Contrast

High contrast can improve legibility. Check out these examples of color combinations, ranked in order of legibility from a distance:

Colors also can be combined to create certain effects:

Color contrast can be strengthened with outlines or drop shadows:

Impact

Sign designers use several techniques to provide just the type of impact you're looking for:

1 Restaurant name is emphasized with large letters and bold type.

2 Adding a border increases reading speed by 28%. Borders are suggested whenever automobile traffic is the intended audience.

3 A second color increases retention by 78%. The black outline improves color contrast thereby increasing legibility.

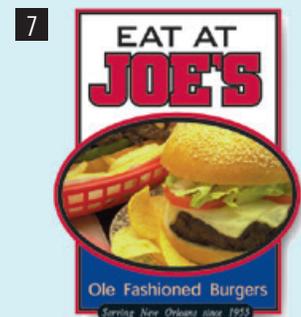

4 Special effects can greatly increase noticeability by creating impact.

5 A simple graphic communicates more information in less time than text.

6 Digital color graphics communicate even more information than text. These graphics frequently activate other senses thereby stimulating impulse purchases.

7 A unique design makes the sign more noticeable and quickly attracts the attention of more viewers.
